Constitutional Background

Constitution of India sets out a parliamentary form of government with bicameral parliament and three independent branches:

- The Executive;
- The Legislative; and
- The Judiciary.

India also has a federal structure with elected governments in each state. Accordingly, India consists of legislatures at the Union Level (the Lok Sabha and the Rajya Sabha) and the State Level (the Vidhan Sabha and the Vidhan Parishad) with fresh elections being contested every 5 years at both the Union and the State levels.

Executive:

The executive branch consists of:

- The President of India (currently Ms. Droupadi Murmu, since July 2022) who is the head of the state;
- The Prime Minister (currently Mr. Narendra Modi, since May 2024) who is the head of the Union Government; and
- The Prime Minister's Cabinet of Ministers.

Legislative:

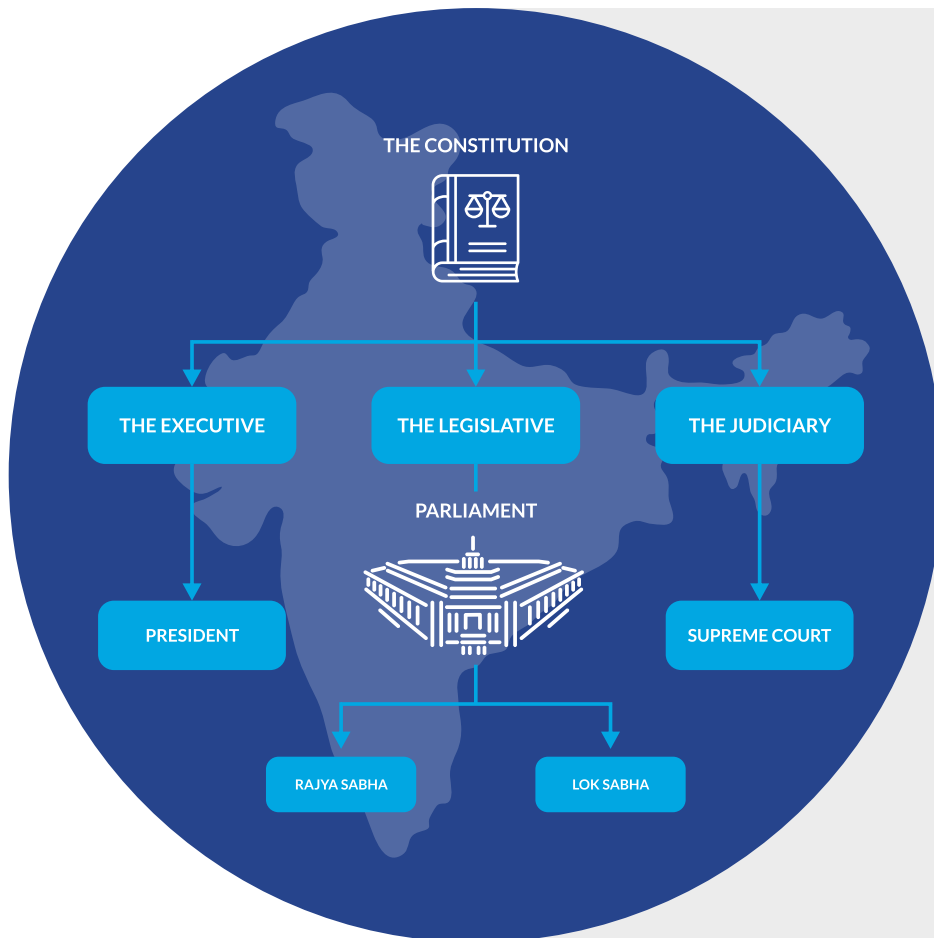

The legislative branch consists of the Lok Sabha (consisting of members directly elected by the people of India) and the Rajya Sabha (consisting of members elected by the respective state governments), together forming the two houses of the Parliament.

The current seat allocation of the Lok Sabha comprises of the Bhartiya Janata Party led National Democratic Alliance getting the majority votes to form the government at the central level. In the opposition is the INDI Alliance.

The Structure on the State Level is similar to the Union Level, with the Chief Minister and Governor (at the State Level) performing similar functions as the Prime Minister and President (at the Union Level) respectively.

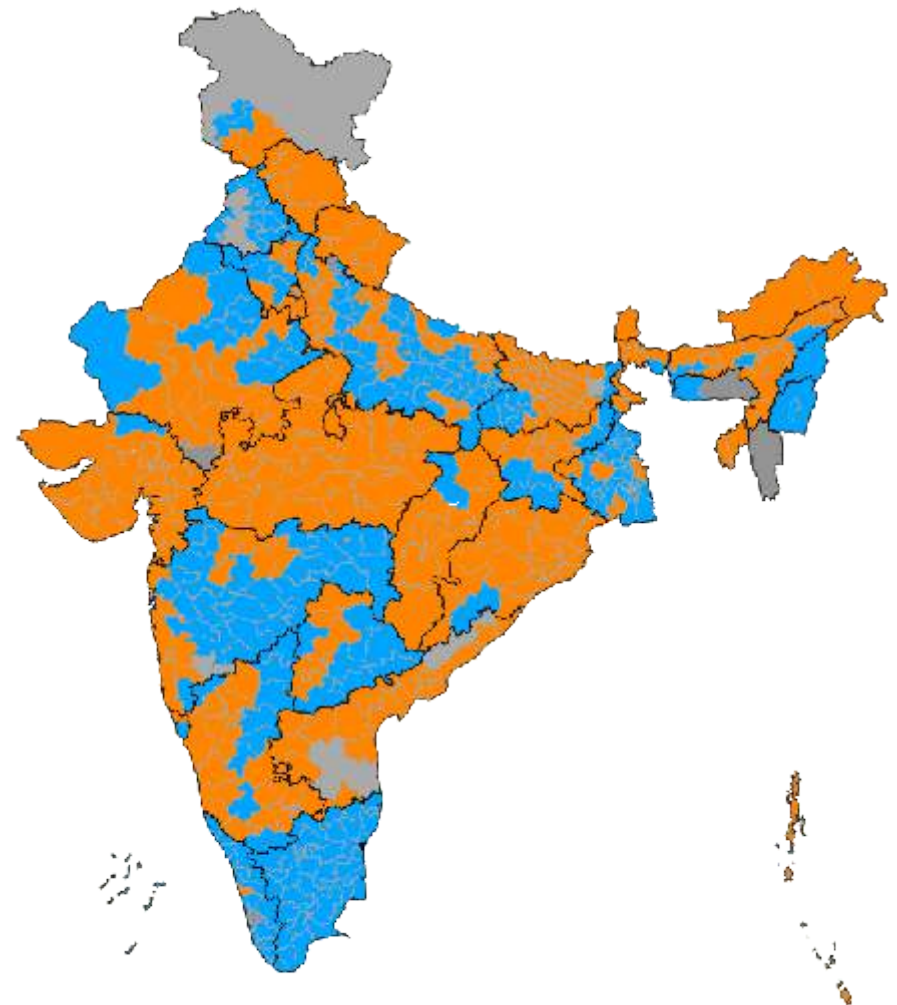

Judiciary:

The judicial branch consists of the Supreme Court of India, followed by the various High Courts of the states and the relevant subordinate courts.

Election Results

General elections were held in India from 19 April to 1 June 2024 in seven phases, to elect 543 members of the Lok Sabha. Votes were counted and the result was declared on 4 June, 2024 to form the 18th Lok Sabha. On 7 June 2024, Prime Minister Narendra Modi confirmed the support of 293 Ministers of Parliament to Droupadi Murmu, the president of India. This marked Modi's third term as prime minister and his first time heading a coalition government with the Telugu Desam Party of Andhra Pradesh and Janata Dal (United) of Bihar emerging as two main allies.

Economic Background

Foreign Investment:

Brief Overview:

Successive governments have understood the importance of foreign investment and have enacted various reforms in order to liberalise the foreign investment policies. This is evident from the change in the government's stance on sectors requiring government approval for foreign investment, where the government has, in recent years allowed foreign investment to be made in more and more sectors without any government approval. Foreign investment in India can be made either through the automatic route or through the government approval route. Certain sectors such as defence and print media require the government approval.

Reforms of the government, along with the Reserve Bank of India ("RBI") (Central Bank of India) to promote business in India, has led to India becoming a global hub for foreign investments. This is evident from the recent report issued by RBI, which stated that India is expected to have a 15.2% share in the world remittances in the year 2024 and would continue to be the largest recipient of remittances globally. India is one of the most attractive destination foreign direct investment ("FDI") in the Asia Pacific region, with the gross FDI being US$ 71 billion and the net foreign portfolio investment inflow being US$ 41.60 billion. Further, there has been an increase in the net inflows of external commercial borrowings to India with the net inflows of US$ 3.50 billion during 2023-24. RBI has in June 2024, stated its intention to promote the Union Government's initiative for promoting ease of doing business in India by taking measures such as rationalising the guidelines for export and import of goods and services under the Foreign Exchange Management Act, 1999.

Government has recently liberalised the FDI threshold in the space sector from the earlier 74% (which was under the government approval route) to:

- For (i) Satellites Manufacturing & Operation, (ii) Satellite Data Products and (iii) Ground Segment & User Segment - 100% (with 74% under automatic route and beyond 74% under government route).
- For (i) Launch Vehicles and associated systems and subsystems and (ii) Creation of Spaceports for launching and receiving spacecrafts - 100% (with 49% under automatic route and beyond 49% under government route).
- For Manufacturing of components and systems/ sub-systems for satellites, ground segment and user segment - 100% under automatic route.

Recent Legal Developments:

Data Protection:

The Digital Personal Data Protection Act, 2023, aimed at regulating the processing of personal data of individuals in India, is yet to be made effective. It seeks to establish a framework for the protection of personal data and defines obligations for entities processing such data.

Insolvency and Bankruptcy Code (IBC):

The IBC continues to evolve with amendments aimed at improving the efficiency of the insolvency resolution process and protecting the interests of creditors and stakeholders. Recent amendments have focused on addressing operational creditors' concerns and streamlining the resolution process.

Labour Code:

In 2019, the Government of India enacted 4 new labour codes, with an aim to streamline and harmonise the multiple labour laws that are currently prevalent in India. The codes, once made effective, would repeal and consolidate 29 labour laws of India that are currently in force.

Competition Law:

- Mergers & Acquisitions beyond certain financial thresholds require a prior approval from the Competition Commission of India. In March 2024, these financial thresholds were increased, allowing more M&As to proceed without the need of any approval, provided they fall below the revised thresholds.
- The time for the approval from the Competition Commission of India has been reduced from 210 days to 150 days.

- Regardless of any assets or turnover exemptions applicable to the target company, any transaction above a deal value of INR 20 billion (US$ 238 million*) and which has substantial business operations in India, would require prior approval from the Competition Commission of India.

*assuming the INR/USD rate as 0.012.

Delisting:

In June 2024, the Securities and Exchange Board of India (SEBI) amended the delisting regulations to provide an alternative mechanism for calculation of the delisting price for a listed entity. Earlier, the method available was the reverse book building process, where the delisting price would be based on the price tendered by the current shareholders of the listed entity. Post the amendment, a fixed price method can also be used for the calculation of the delisting price, provided that the delisting price is at least 15% above the floor price, as determined in accordance with the regulations.

Rumour Verification:

From June 1, 2024, the top 100 listed companies and from December 1, 2024, the top 250 listed companies, would need to verify any market rumours that lead to a material price movement in its share price, within 24 hours. Material price movement will be determined in accordance with the relevant framework notified by the stock exchanges.

Mergers

Now a foreign parent can be merged with the Indian subsidiary with the prior approval of RBI.

Foreign Investment

Government intends streamlining the manner in which foreign investment is calculated by permitting investors to decide between FDI and Foreign Portfolio Investment in certain sectors.

The Securities and Exchange Board of India has recently introduced a new Foreign Portfolio Investor (FPI) Outreach Cell, which will serve as a single point of contact for foreign investors, providing assistance from the pre-application stage to resolving operational challenges for FPIs.
